■ ALEXANDRA MENA SANSANO · LEAD PRODUCT DESIGNER

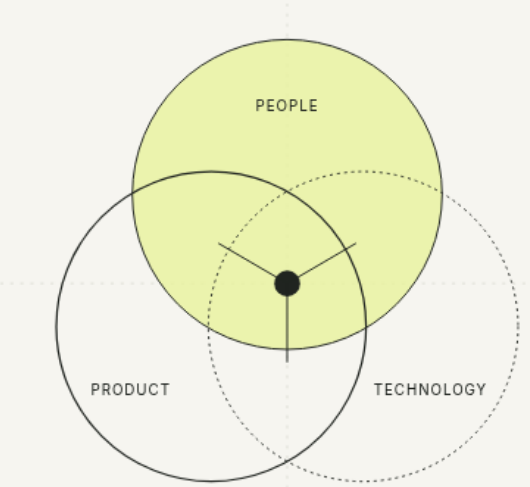

MADRID, SPAIN / WORKING IN ENGLISH & SPANISH

Good ideas need a way forward.

I connect product strategy, human behaviour and technology. Then I lead the decisions that turn a brief into something people can use.

A PERSPECTIVE THAT CONNECTS

STRATEGY × SENSIBILITY × DELIVERY

SELECTED WORK / 2022—2026

A LITTLE MORE ABOUT ME ↓

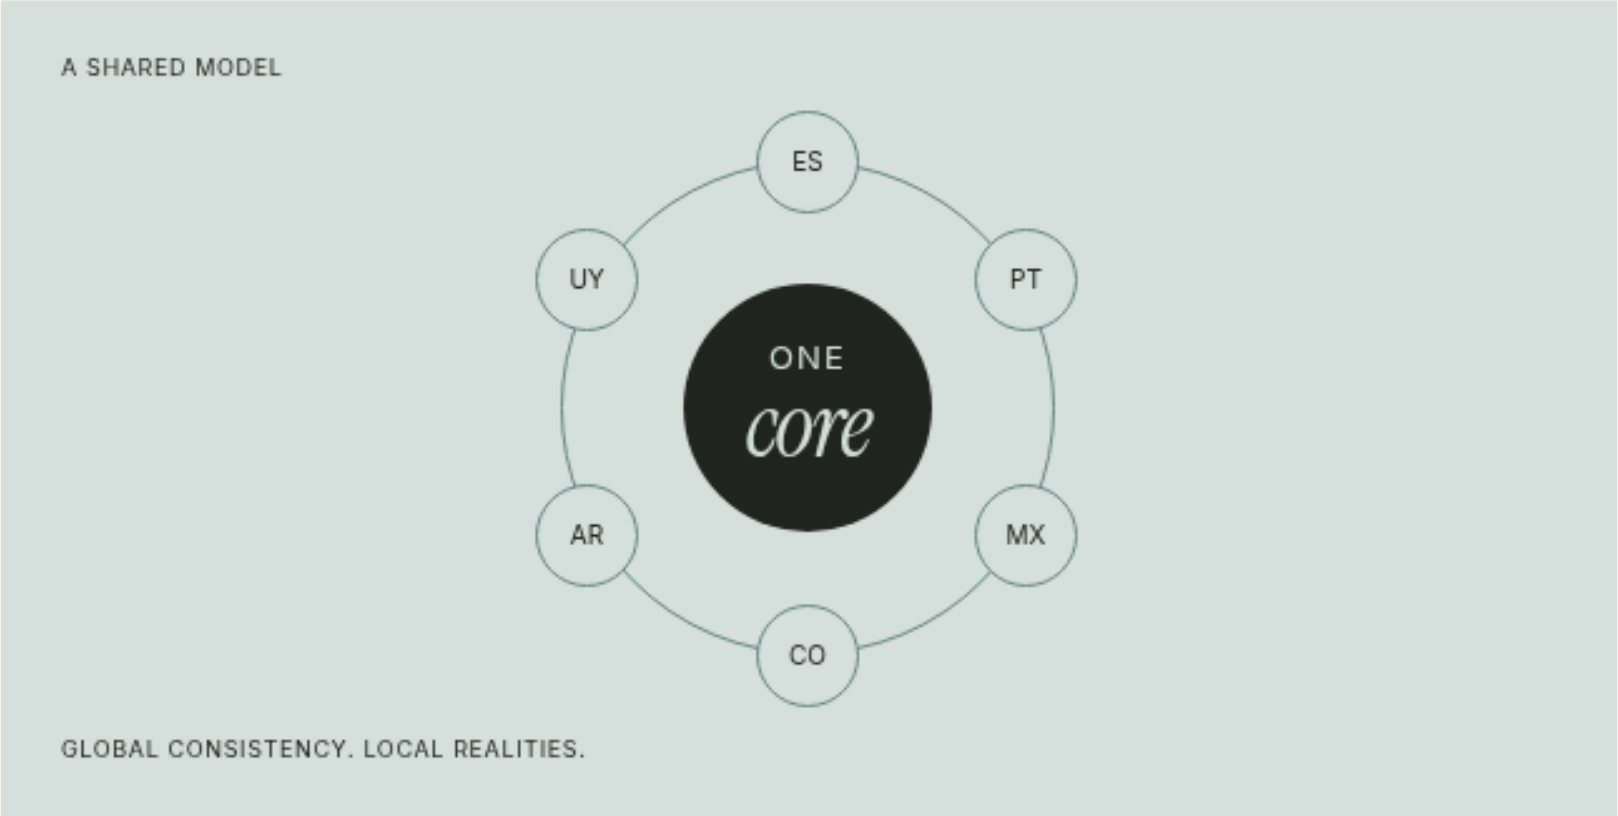

THE PERSPECTIVE

I work where the brief is still taking shape, and the decisions matter.

My background brings together audiovisual communication, photography, behavioural economics and product design. It shapes how I read a situation, find its story and give it a usable form.

That can mean aligning a banking platform across six markets, shaping an AI workspace or designing the screen inside a kitchen tap. I stay close to the work, from the first questions to prototyping, systems and delivery.

Meet Álex

01 / BBVA

2022–2025

One model. Six markets. Room for the differences.

A global business banking platform, followed by responsive standardisation and a programme of product evolution.

Global platforms · Product leadership

• Implemented

02 / COCA-COLA

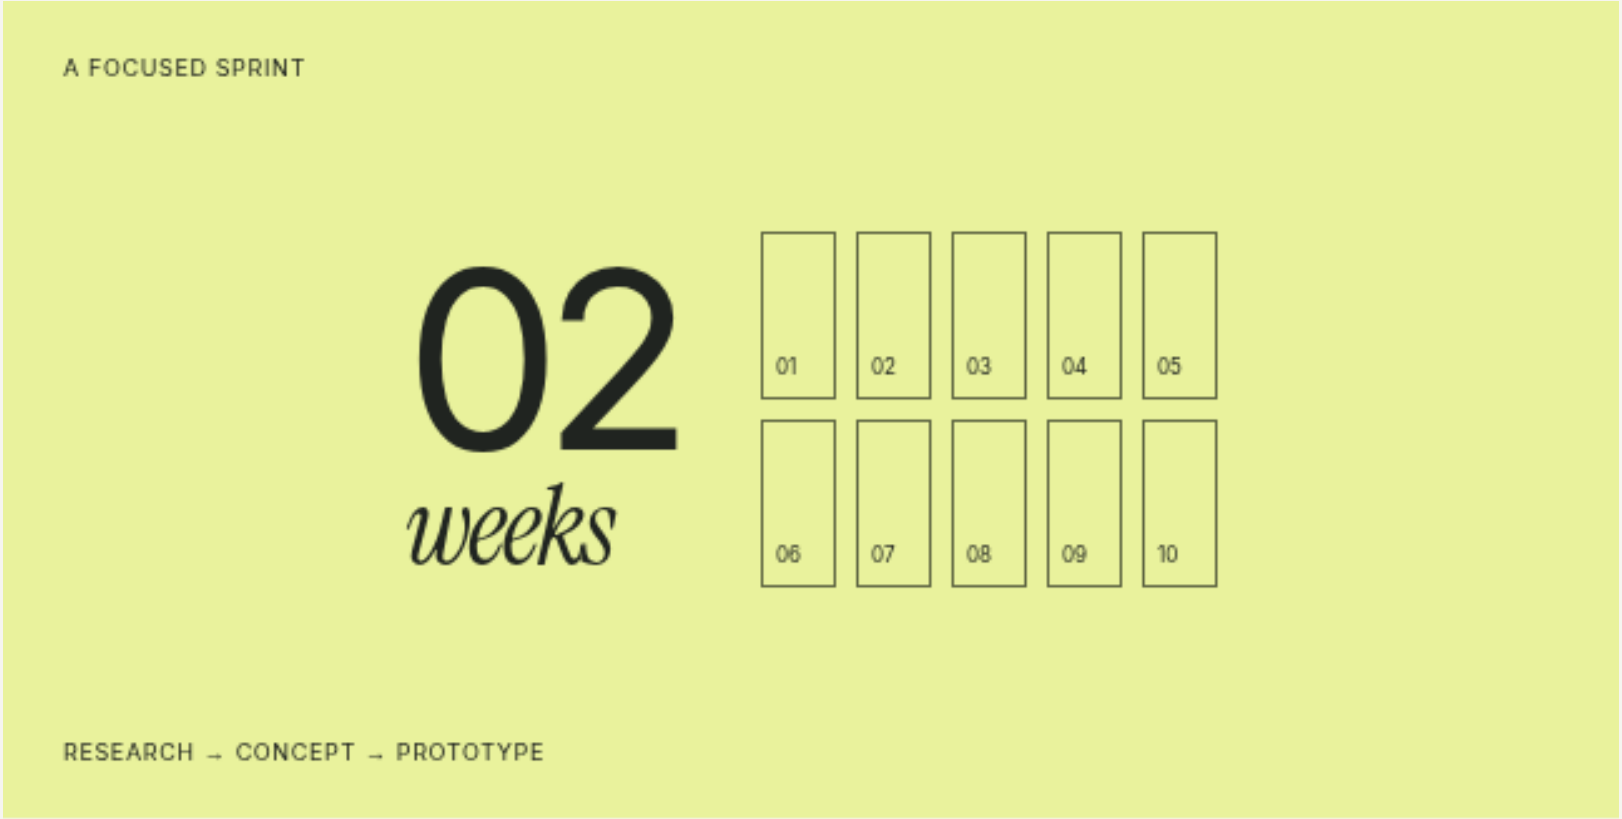

2024–2025

Give fragmented knowledge a common entry point.

An LLM-based internal MVP bringing four marketing programmes into one experience.

AI product · Knowledge orchestration

- Internal MVP

03 / CAIXABANK

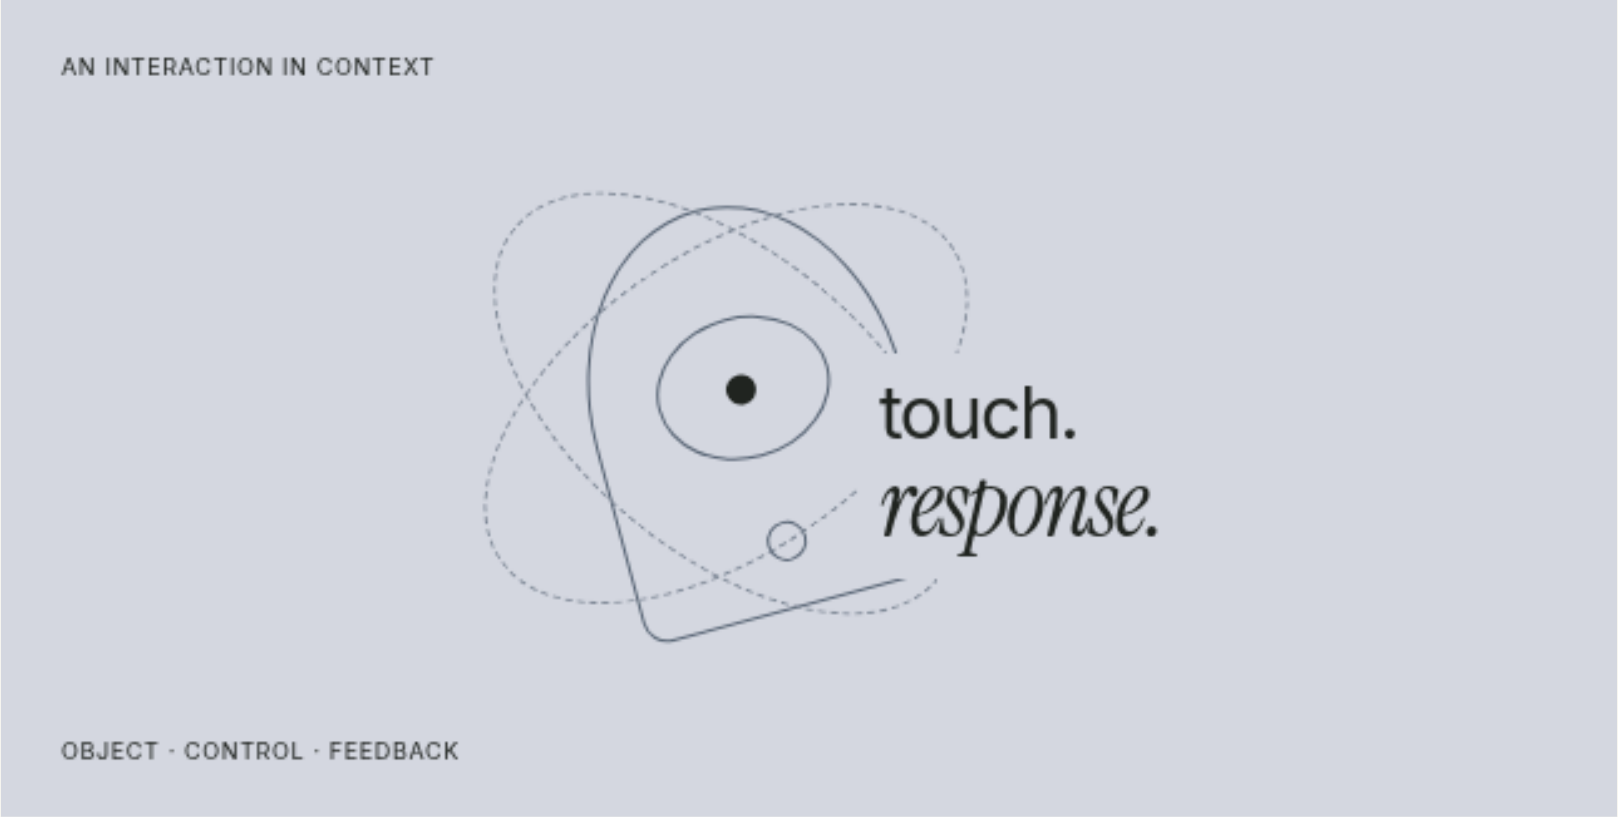

2025

A bank manager's working day. A two-week brief.

Research, product concept, ten screens and a navigable prototype for an AI-assisted manager tool.

AI product · Research · Decision support

• Concept delivered

04 / ZIP WATER

2026

The interface is part of the object.

Five interaction concepts for a smart tap, shaped by hardware, wet hands and moments of limited attention.

Physical–digital · AI-assisted prototyping

• Concepts in validation

HOW I CONTRIBUTE

A point of view, carried through the work.

Direction is useful when it helps people make the next decision.

01	Make the problem clear.	Connect people's needs, the business context and the technical constraints. Decide what the product should help someone do.
02	Give the idea a form.	Bring narrative, structure and interaction together. Use prototypes to make a direction tangible enough to discuss and test.
03	Bring people with it.	Make decisions visible across disciplines. Align teams and stakeholders around a direction they understand and can build.
04	Stay through delivery.	Follow the work through systems, documentation and implementation. Keep the product's logic intact as it moves between teams.

THREE WAYS INTO THE WORK

Find the relevant perspective.

A focused selection for the conversation you want to have.

01

Product leadership

Selected work on global platforms, programme leadership and the connection between design decisions and delivery.

Explore selection

02

Product & AI

Selected work on knowledge access, decision support and AI-assisted prototyping. Each case distinguishes the product capability from the way it was designed.

A LITTLE MORE ABOUT ME

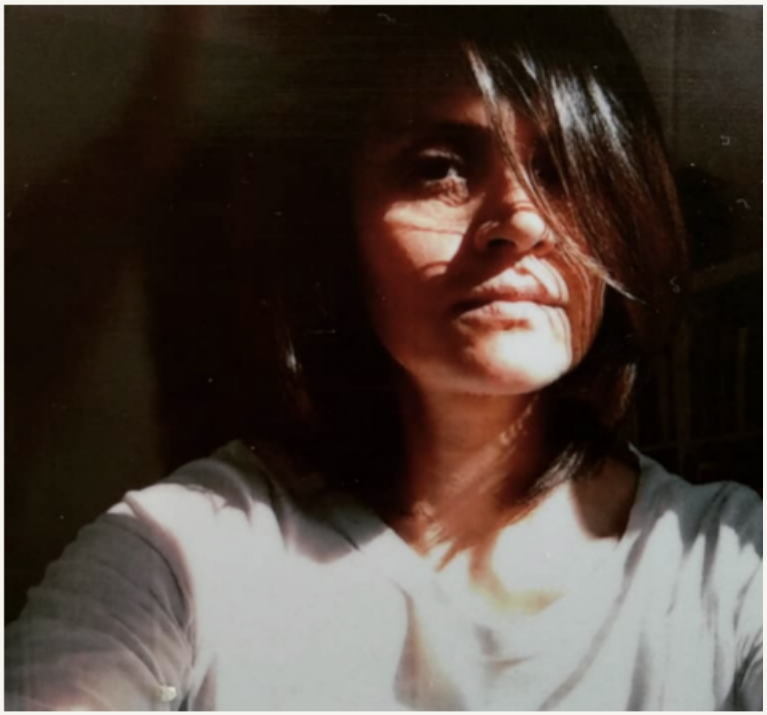

A human perspective.
A product mind.

I'm Alexandra Mena Sansano. I work where product direction, human behaviour and delivery have to meet.

I trained in audiovisual communication and photography before moving into digital product design. Narrative, context and visual sensitivity still shape how I work: I pay attention to how people interpret a system before asking them to use it.

I can own decisions as a senior individual contributor or direct a multidisciplinary team. In both cases, I stay close enough to protect the product's logic and broad enough to connect the business and technical realities.
